President Spalding Tells Why He Imports Operators

FREE FOR BOYNTON TOGETHER

The name of Flora, the young Boston girl, figured today at the trial of the $25,000 alienation suit brought by Chester A. Boynton against the Rev. William B. Ayres, pastor of the Park and Avenue Church at Watton, Boston, who admitted that he knew the same girl before. On cross-examination today Boynton admitted that he thought the girl was a little fool.

That the relation between Boynton and Miss Saxe, who was a choir singer at the Park and Avenue church, led to conversation in which Mrs. Boynton told Boynton to pack up his things and leave the house was also admitted by Boynton today.

Mother-in-Law at Scene.
The incident occurred on February 1, 1912, when Boynton was planning to leave the house on Broadway street because of heavy expense. The conversation took place in the presence of Mrs. Boynton's mother-in-law, Mrs. Willet.

Attorney Anderson for the defense asked: "Didn't your wife say that she had given you three chances to behave yourself in regard to Flora Saxe and you had failed to do so so you could get out?"

"Mrs. Boynton said," replied Boynton, "I understood that the girl is still working at the store. Now either she has got to go or I will. For as long as she there I know there is something between you. Now you can take your things and go."

Q.—"Did you say to Mr. Cully in regard to this suit that the more you could do your wife's name in the dirt the more it would hurt her?" A.—No.

An affidavit marked by Boynton which was read in 1911 before a committee of ministers was presented in evidence. The affidavit stated the fact of Mrs. Boynton's marriage, and went on to tell of his life until 1910, when the Rev. William B. Ayres came to live with the Boyntons. From that time on, the affidavit stated, Ayres tried to win the affections of Mrs. Boynton, and was successful. Mrs. Boynton left his room and had gone to another room to live.

Ayres Called Him a "Crook."
"I have no direct evidence," said the affidavit, "of any criminal act, but I have circumstantial evidence. My wife ceased to take breakfast with me, but would prepare my breakfast dressed in a kimono over her nightgown. Afterwards she went to bed. Mr. Ayres at that time called me a crook and a thief. He accused me of being a manipulator of her. This occurred in her presence, but the old saying, 'My wife's affairs were a matter of indifference and disgrace. She would go to bed with him, but I would not go to bed with him in anything she would come to him to get out of it.'"

Q.—"Did you say that Flora Saxe was a young girl and understood her 'lovely attitude'?" A.—Yes, I said that. I think she was a little girl.

Q.—"And you said she was causing you to feel that way?" A.—Yes.

Q.—"Now didn't the Rev. Mr. Ayres tell you that right in the presence of your wife that as a married man, you should have nothing to do with this other young woman, and I mean Miss Saxe?" A.—Yes.

Denies Wrong with Girl.
Q.—"Didn't the minister tell you that if there was nothing wrong in it, he would not say that?" A.—Yes, he said that. I said that if there was nothing wrong in it, he would not say that. I said that if there was nothing wrong in it, he would not say that.

Q.—"What else did you say to the minister and your wife in the (theory that creating) A.—I said that I was not going to do anything to hurt the reputation of that girl."

MRS. NICHOLAS SCHRAM, also known as Lena Bradley, and her pugilist husband, held an important witness in the big smuggling frauds uncovered here. Picture taken today by American staff photographer Dresser.

Popular Election of U. S. Senators Is Now Assured

HARTFORD, Ct., April 8.—The Connecticut Legislature today ratified the proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for the election of United States Senators by the people, making thirty-six States, the number required for its adoption. The vote was 156 to 77 in the House, and it was unanimous in the Senate.

MEXICANS IN FIGHT ON THE BORDER LINE

HOUSTON, Tex., April 8.—A general engagement of State troops with General Upton's forces began at 5:20 a. m. and was still on at noon. Two American soldiers perishing the border were wounded. A rain of bullets has been falling on the American side of the boundary line since the fighting began. All American losses were slight, and practically the entire population of Llaneros has sought shelter in the adjacent mountains.

WILSON TALKS TO CONGRESS LEAVE BED

WASHINGTON, April 8.—In the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, assembled in the House chamber today, President Wilson read his first message to Congress. It is the first President to have personally read his message to Congress in 112 years.

The President arrived at the Capitol a few minutes before 1 o'clock, accompanied by his secretary and secret service men.

The House galleries were a swelling capacity of less than one thousand, and the public had no show there. Each member of the Senate and House received only two tickets, regular load ones for sure. The President's relatives and friends occupied the executive galleries and the cabinet officers were also supplied with the coveted passbooks.

Notified by a Committee.
President Wilson entered the Capitol through the east door, was escorted through the hallway on the first floor to an elevator alcove, which took him to the Speaker's office.

There he was greeted by the Vice-President and Speaker Clark. A committee of senators and representatives notified him that the assembled lawmakers were ready to hear his message, and, accompanied by the secretary and followed by a select committee from the House and Senate, passed through the lobby of the House and entered at the left of the Speaker's desk.

Seated on the Speaker's rostrum were the Speaker and Vice-President Marshall. The chamber was very still while the President, standing at the desk which is ordinarily occupied by the reading clerk of the House, read his message.

Admiral Dwyer took word to Speaker Clark today by his aide that he was like to be present when the President read his message, and the Speaker immediately invited him to come to the Capitol and have a seat of honor on the floor of the House, a privilege which has not been accorded in the famous annual hour of March 4 since he was publicly honored for his achievement twenty years ago.

The Thorpe, the athlete; Chief Meyer, the Giants' catcher, and Lops Star, the artist, appeared to Clerk of the House South Trible to be allowed to witness the ceremony. They had no tickets, but Trible showed them a passageway leading into one of the galleries and said: "Go to it, boys. If you can get in there you can see the show."

"Dress Reformers" Held.
Meyers needed a flying wedge and the three got inside of the gallery and stood up while the ceremony was in progress.

Democratic National Chairman McCombs was given a seat in the executive gallery, from which he listened to the reading of the President's message. Many persons who had seats reserved for them found up arriving that they were occupied by somebody else and much confusion resulted.

ROME, April 8.—Pope Pius X. was in bed, visited by his sisters between the hours of 8 and 10 this forenoon and the demeanor of the women upon leaving the Vatican gave rise to gossip from over the apostolic condition. The women wept inconsolably as they left the Vatican.

GIRL STRIKEBREAKERS GET $25 BONUS AND $12 WEEKLY SALARY

NEW YORK, April 8.—After the departure for Boston today of the 500 telephone operators who will be used as strikebreakers if the operators in the Hub go on strike, officials of the New York Telephone Company admitted that the generous inducements offered the girls was the main reason for their willingness to be strikebreakers.

The inducements were a salary of $12 a week, a bonus of $25 each, free board and lodging in a modern hotel in Boston, free laundry, free rail fare and free sight-seeing tours of the city.

Mothers and Babes March with Strikers

A remarkable demonstration marked the latest developments in the strike of the Draper plant in Hopedale when hundreds of wives joined in a parade carrying their babies in their arms and bearing placards asking the English-speaking workmen to join in the walkout.

As the mothers sang the "Marseilles," the strikers, plowing voices of boys and girls, all able to hold their own, all joined in the stirring strains.

LONDON, April 8.—Florence Macfarlane and Gertrude Edwards, two members of the militant "suffragettes" were today sentenced to three weeks and to pay a fine of $25 each for causing a disturbance outside of Holloway jail where Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst is confined.

500 PHONE GIRLS HERE FROM N. Y.

Five hundred girl strikebreakers, "imported" by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company, arrived in Boston today from New York, to be put on the big city switchboards the moment a strike is declared by the 2,200 members of the Boston telephone operators' union.

The girl strikebreakers came in a special train which left New York city at 8 o'clock and which drew in at the South Terminal station at 1:30.

Two preliminary batches of girls, numbering eighteen and fifty, arrived here before the special train. The 500 of the special made a total of 598 girl strikebreakers, brought here to break a strike, if one is ordered.

It was reported, also, that the telephone company has drafted as many girls as it could get from some of the larger New England exchanges, like Portland, Portsmouth and the like.

300 at Copley-Plaza.

More than 300 of the girl strikebreakers are stationed today at the Copley Plaza Hotel.

The telephone company reserved the entire second floor of this new and expensive hotel.

The girls are lodged under the same roof with millineries and artists from all over the country. Under the same roof tonight will be the charity fancy dress ball, which is scheduled to be one of the most elaborate and extensive social events of the closing season.

Spalding's Statement.

President Spalding gave the reasons for importing the girls from New York in the following statement issued shortly after noon today.

It is quite true that a large number of operators have arrived today. Tomorrow a ballot will be taken in the city of Detroit for the corporation.

PRESIDENT SPALDING TELLS WHY COMPANY IS BRINGING "BREAKERS"

The first duty of the management of this property is to maintain the important service without any serious break and the management will be extremely careful if it did not take every precaution to be prepared for an event which, without such preparation, would amount to a calamity to the city of Boston.

The first organization requests to be ready for the strike if it occurs and continues the service, meeting the emergency as it has not other emergency through the loyalty and heroism of its operating force, as it has the Boston, Chelsea and Baltimore from the San Francisco earthquake, the Omaha cyclone and the floods which recently devastated the Central West.

No professional strike-breakers can be used, or will be used. Loyal, efficient, highly trained electricians, women of the highest type of character, are being brought here to supplement the work of our regular loyal operators, and will be held in readiness to meet this being planned for.

The management is discharging its duty to the public which it serves, to the rest of its employees and to its security-holders cannot permit the present conditions of uncertainty to continue. A condition of demoralization is arising, and the management proposes not only to meet the emergency promptly and thoroughly if it arises, but also to make a lasting and permanent improvement.

If necessary, if the more than 400 applicants now on the waiting list seeking employment as telephone operators, all residents of Boston and vicinity, as many as can be accommodated in the schools of the company will be engaged at once and be trained as rapidly as possible to take their position at the switchboards. The management realizes that it is advanced to the more important positions as fast as their experience and fitness warrants it without regard to their length of service, and that in every short time the operating force, composed of residents of Boston and vicinity will be on a permanent basis, of the highest efficiency.

The management realizes that IF THE STRIKE OCCURS IT WILL BE A MOST DISASTROUS OCCURRENCE.

It would be a barren and profitless victory to accomplish what ordinarily is looked upon as a victory if the result were the operators returned to their places with the feeling that they had been forced and were still dissatisfied.

THE MANAGEMENT DOES NOT DESIRE TO WIN SUCH A VICTORY. It desires to not least in a position where it can efficiently serve the public and at the same time be not only just but generous to its employees of all classes and in all positions.

The union operators voted overwhelmingly to strike unless their demands were granted, but agreed, at the request granted, that the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, not to take decisive action until after a no tomorrow afternoon, pending efforts at compromise.

The union members declare that the preparations of the telephone company for a strike conflict with the spirit of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration at 11:30 a.m. the importance of strike-breakers, the telephone company made other preparations for the strike.

It planned replacements for 200 telephones and other automobiles to be used in carrying the strike-breakers from their quarters to the city and suburbs, exchanges.

REMARKABLE SNAPSHOT of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Warren as they left Arlington Street Church after their marriage today.

The above remarkable photograph was taken today in front of the Arlington Street Church, following the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Sears and Bayard Warren. The bride stood at the curb waiting to enter her carriage. The carriage came up. The horse ran into O. Frank Radway, staff photographer of the AMERICAN, who was walking in the street to snap the wedding bride of the season. "Look out!" cried the bride in alarm. Radway jumped as she called to him, but snapped his camera at Mrs. Warren as he was jumping to safety. Result—the above unobtainable photograph of a spring-time bride.

Miss Elizabeth Sears, Boston's wealthiest bride, was married to Bayard Warren today in the Arlington Street Church before a host of Boston's leading society folk.

It was one of the prettiest weddings Boston has seen. The interior of the church was banked with Dorothy Trevis roses, lilies, lilies, and southern magnolias.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham. Miss Phillips Sears, the bride's only attendant, entered the church wearing the $100,000 necklace recently presented her on her coming out by her grandfather. The string of pearls is said to be the most costly ever worn by a Boston society girl.

The bride, who is the older daughter of Henry Sears, wore a handsome gown of white satin with draped skirt and a long veil of tulle caught to the collar with a wreath of orange blossoms. Her bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Miss Phillips Sears wore white chiffon over yellow satin and a large hat of white and chiffon combined, also her hair was jeweled with pearls. Samuel Warren was her brother's best man.

The ushers were Charles P. Curtis, Jr., Thomas C. Frothingham, Percy Fendell, Robert S. Porter, John S. Porter, Gordon H. Hatch, A. Montgomery Goodale, Frederick Parker, Jr., Daniel Sargent, George C. Cutler, and Upton Sullivan and Edwin D. Morgan, Jr.

The ceremony was followed by a reception and breakfast at the home of the bride's father in Commonwealth Avenue. The honeymoon will be spent abroad.

Among the guests at the church were John L. Gardner, Mrs. Oliver Ames and her two pretty daughters, Elsie and Mrs. Robert Belmont, and, and in all almost every person known in the smart society circles.

AMES CHOSEN COMMANDER OF STATE G. A. R.

A larger number of veterans are attending the forty-seventh state convocation of the Grand Army of the Republic than have been present for several years in spite of blinding rains and with an average age of seventy-three years. But the reason that there are more delegates this year is due to the fact that the basis of representation has been changed from thirty-five to twenty-five. There were in Faneuil Hall today between six and seven hundred Grand Army men.

Much of the morning session was taken up with the reading of the report for 1912 by Department Commander George H. Hoxey.

This afternoon balloting took place for new officers. Commander Hoxey being succeeded by Thomas J. Ames, Jr., vice commander. The position of Commander would naturally have fallen to Isaac C. Day, Jr., vice commander, but owing to extreme feebleness he declined and was given a complimentary vote instead.

Other meetings are being held simultaneously today and tomorrow in various parts of the city. The Daughters of Veterans are meeting in Cushman Hall, while the Women's Relief Corps holds its sessions in the People's Temple. The Sons of Veterans and the Woman's Auxiliary held their elections and banquets at the Gallery Theatre.

The greatest interest of this, the forty-seventh convocation, centers about the reception given tomorrow to National Commander Alfred B. Hovey.

Tomorrow night there will be a reception and banquet in Faneuil Hall, at which Governor Fox and Mayor Fitzgerald will be guests.

EVA BOOTH TO BE AT CONGRESS HERE

Miss Eva Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, will be the chief figure of interest attending the annual congress of the army, which will convene in Boston, Wednesday, April 16. The congress will continue to the 19th, inclusive. On April 20, on that day Miss Booth will lecture at 3 p. m. in Tremont Temple on "My Father, the Founder of the Salvation Army."

South Delighted With First Sunday Issue of American

ATLANTA, Ga., April 8.—The first issue of Hearst's Sunday American published in Atlanta surprised and delighted the entire South. The circulation was larger than that of any other Sunday newspaper published in the South. Nearly every newspaper made the same response, "Sold out."

The evening edition of the American publishes a large number of telegrams from newsmen, including their orders for next Sunday, and also statements from leading men and women of Georgia and the South, commending in an unqualified way the appearance of the Sunday American, and the variety and widespread interest of its contents. Governor Brown of Georgia said this splendid tribute to the Sunday American.

Hearst's Sunday American was a superb paper. It was very attractive. I found the news matter solid and up to the minute. It was, in fact, the best edition of any newspaper I have ever seen. Mr. Hearst should be heartily congratulated.

Hearst's Sunday American contained three hundred and forty-seven columns of advertising, and forty columns were devoted because of lack of space to its insertion.

TO TELL OF SHOES ON CHAMBER TOUR

One of Boston's leading industries will be officially represented on the Boston Chamber of Commerce's tour of South America. It was announced today by Thomas F. Anderson, secretary of the New England Shoe and Leather Association. He will carry to South America a picture setting forth the advantages of New England-made footwear and leather.

PLAN PLEA TO MAYOR TO END CHARLESTOWN L

President Francis P. Niv, John B. Flanagan and Patrick J. Kye of the Charlestown Improvement Association will urge the removal of the elevated structure from Charlestown, at the town meeting to be held before the Mayor and City Council next Monday evening in the Charlestown High School.

The abolition of a canal was favored at a preliminary "town meeting" of the association as the greatest improvement needed in the district. Mr. Flanagan said he believed the Elevated should continue the tunnel and be given a city or seventy-five year lease.

Among the subjects discussed was the establishment of a co-operative bank in Charlestown, permission having been granted the petitioners by the Bank Commission; the proposed new municipal building in City square, the proposed widening of Chelsea street, better lights on the Charlestown Bridge and streets, a new fire station on Winthrop street, and a drying shed.

A committee consisting of Mark E. Smith, Arthur Harrington, Augustus A. Paine, and Fred Chase, was appointed to investigate plans for the new municipal building in City square, and to see what improvements are to be made in the district. The committee is not approved by the committee, a committee setting forth the advantages of New England-made footwear and leather.

ROXBURY PROMISED BETTER CAR SERVICE

The President M. C. Brush of the Elevated has assured a committee of the Roxbury Citizens Association that he will endeavor to have the best service possible in the Roxbury Crossing section. The Roxbury Citizens Association was organized last year.

Auto News

By J. C. KERRISON.

Quite a change is to be experienced in the New York and Chicago shows of the future, as instead of being extended over a period of two weeks they will each be restricted to seven days.

The New York show, which heretofore has been usually held in Madison Square Garden, will be conducted next in the Grand Central Palace, the powers that be having determined that a show in this building is a better proposition.

New York has given up all idea of holding a truck show and Chicago has done likewise. It would seem as though Boston is the only one of the big shows, in which might be turned the national circuit. Gas is to hold a truck show next year.

The results of the truck show at New York and Chicago were anything but satisfactory to the exhibitors, it being felt that the cost of showing was greater than the profit realized per hour.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Bay State Automobile Association it was planned to inaugurate an active campaign. A special committee on entertainment and dinner was appointed, consisting of A. B. Hensley, F. P. O'Brien, W. H. Ballard, Fred P. Ryan and R. R. Rose. The committee on race and tour includes W. H. Stevens, Osear Langmaid, W. H. Williams and M. E. Leeson, as in the past two years.

The North Dakota road law has several new features. Road taxes and taxes for the fund are to be paid in cash. The levy is to be assessed by the county auditor on the tax lists to be collected by the county treasurer, when collected to constitute the road fund in the township in which it is levied. Any taxpayer may satisfy the township owner before the 1st of his intention to work out the tax, and the township owner may then file with the clerk before May 1st. The board of township supervisors may now the expenditures under regulations deemed expedient. The act took effect at once as an emergency measure.

Gasoline may go up—but the price is coming down. The reduction of the price—as assumed for Diamond tires—means a big saving for motorists who equip their cars with this well known brand of tires. The reasons given by the manufacturers for this reduction are: the present large supply of crude rubber, improved methods of manufacturing, and particularly the economy resulting from the discovery made by Diamond chemists of a new process of toughening new gum that has resulted in vitallized rubber.

I n connection with the Loughlin Lyman games, which will be held in New York on April 11, there will be held a 600-yard race which will be a match and it will be open to athletes who have done 1m. 16s. for the distance. Among the most prominent athletes will be Dave Caldwell and Ted Meredith.

The race between this pair should be one of the best seen for some time. Caldwell has been training for the purpose of meeting Meredith in a 600 or 1,000-yard race. It will be the first meeting of these champions since the Olympic games in Sweden and a new record should be set up. The present record for this distance is held by Melvin Sheppard. And R. R. R. and Harry Gilling.

The race will also be an important athletic event, as it will mark the return of Harry Gilling to the track. Gilling, however, is not looked upon as a likely competitor, as he has just started training. The sporting he makes in the race, however, will be an indication of what he is able to do when in shape. This race will end the indoor season in New York.

R. HALEY, who arrived in this country ten days ago, will make his first appearance in New York on April 11. He is entered in the two-mile event and will be pitted against Hutchinson and Krumpholtz. He is not expected to make a wonderful showing on the first appearance here. It is rumored that he will compete in the future under the colors of the Irish-American Club.

Jimmy Walsh Beats Pittsley Easily in Syracuse Go

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 8.—Jimmy Walsh of Boston decisively defeated Bobby Pittsley of this city in a ten-round bout here. Walsh was the aggressor and left the ring without a mark, while Pittsley was bleeding profusely at the mouth and nose. Walsh had eight of the rounds, the other two being even. The result was never in doubt after the fifth.

At Chung, the Salem, Mass., champion, who is Walsh's sparring partner, was knocked out in two rounds by Jack Crook of Buffalo.

COACH WRAY MAKES BIG SHAKEUP IN FRESHMEN CREW

Coach Wray has made another shakeup in the Harvard freshman first and second crews in an endeavor to get the eight best men into the first shell. Bruce Boony of Forest Hills, one of the Boston Latin School stars of last year, has been put back at No. 7 in the first boat, where he was at the start of the season. Potter moves from that seat to No. 3 in the same boat, and Jeffrey, who has been at No. 5, has been sent to the second boat.

BATTER UP

What a welcome cry to hear! And it's echoing o'er the house-tops, Town and village—far and near.
Box, Tigers, Giants and Naps
Off today to win the race;
Fans and players lead the cheer,
Set a new and harder pace.
Merchants, lawyers, doctors, beggars,
Baseball season's on today;
Leave your business cares behind you,
Put your dreamy thoughts away.
Now's high time you paid obsequies
To your country lord and king;
Nineteen-thirteen's season's on—
Baseball's monarch of the Spring.

MANDOT COMES BACK AND BEATS LORE IN HARD FIGHT

NEW ORLEANS, April 8.—Joe Mandot tried to make a come back in the pugilistic ring here when he went against Johnny Lore of New York for ten rounds, and he largely succeeded, for the newspaper decision will be in his favor, although friends of Lore will contend for a draw.
It was a good fight and with the exception of three rounds, one that must be declared an even break and two in which Lore had a shade the best of it, Mandot had the advantage. In the third round, Lore, after feinting with his left, got in a powerful right swing to the jaw which staggered Mandot to the ropes.

Star Distance Men Are to Be Starters in Ten-Mile Race

Close to 100 individual entries are expected for the annual 10-mile cross-country run under the auspices of the Cathedral Y. M. C. A., which will be held over the same course that has been used for the past four years and is considered one of the best for the purpose in Greater Boston.
To date the entries of the leading distance runners of Boston and the suburbs have been received by the management of the event, and there is a possibility that a few of the visiting athletes from Canada and New York, who will be in Boston for the coming B. A. Marathon, will take advantage of the opportunity to make the event a tryout for the classic autumn event.

POEHLER LEADS CHRISTOPHER BY 48 PINS

By J. P. MURPHY.

With a lead of four-eight-pins in the first ten strikes of his match with John Christopher, it looks very promising for Paul Poehler when the two tee the chalk line in the final decade for the New England bowling title at the New Boston alleys tonight. The result of the opening ten strikes showed 1,105 for Poehler, an average of 22.1, against 1,037 for Christopher, an average of 20.7.
Last night's exhibition was a fine one to watch, and although the Dookmans won by a wide margin, he never was safe until the last three strikes were slowly pulled away from his adversary. Christopher was dangerous every moment. After Poehler had piled up a lead of thirteen pins in the sixth ending, Christopher came back in the seventh and cut the margin down to four. At that he showed an inclination to wobble for his work was almost up a par with his previous string, but the howling of Poehler was too much for him.
The scores of the match are as follows:
Poehler: 12 14 15 11 13 13 10 13 10 12—1105
Christopher: 11 13 10 12 10 11 11 11 11 10—1037

Concerning Beer—

There are thousands of people in New England who drink BEER. Editorial writers and physicians claim that good BEER—properly brewed—is beneficial to one's health.

The question is not "SHALL I DRINK BEER?" but "WHAT BEER SHALL I DRINK?"

We doubt, very much, whether any one BEER will satisfy everybody's taste or physical condition.

We do not claim for Pfaff's Beer that it will satisfy everybody. Our claims for Pfaff's Beer are that it is absolutely pure—that it is brewed under ideal conditions—that the ingredients out of which it is made are of the highest standard—and that it is delivered to you in perfect condition.

The proper age—the right stock strength—the correct fermentation all combine in Pfaff's Beer to make it uniformly excellent.
Pfaff's Beer is not an ordinary brew—with many adjectives added to it for selling purposes.
Pfaff's Beer is the deliberate result of a concerted effort on the part of expert malsters—honest brewers—and reliable dealers—to produce a BEER of unchanging character and deliver it while at its best.
This talk leads up to a request on our part that you order Pfaff's Beer the next time you order.
Pfaff's Beer is on sale everywhere.

PILGRIMS OUT FOR REVENGE IN THE ORIOLES

By A. H. C. MITCHELL

BALTIMORE, Md., April 8.—A very brief, but not a very hot, game was played between the Boston Nationals and the Baltimore Orioles last night. The Nationals won, 1-0, but they will not again this afternoon. Wood makes good because he bats at everything he tackles with all the enthusiasm and all the energy he has, and he has more of both than most young men. The Sox "speed king" is a natural born winner. He has more "pep" as they call it—has any other man among the world's champions.

"BOCK" PITMAN, a young broker from St. Louis, who has made a million in New York in the past two years, led the biggest plunge made on the Red Sox to win the world's championship last fall. This fact is published here for the first time. The Sox were there. Although a pitcher, he was a natural born winner. He has more "pep" as they call it—has any other man among the world's champions.

Walsh Always Had Excuse. Dryden made it apply to Big Ed. Walsh, who, whenever he got a game, complained that he was not feeling right. But he proved that he always had an excuse prepared in advance. There was really no reason for "Big Ed" to make excuses, but he is built that way and Dryden was quick enough to pick out his weakness and dispute any.

As regards the Boston Nationals, there are no less than one million ails that could be brought into play whenever an overworked correspondent wants to utilize one or two thousand or more of them. Several scores of them have been made use of in these dispatches, but the chances are that several hundred more will have to be placed in the spotlight before the season ends.

Team Work is Improving. I think it is interesting to note that the fact that the Baltimore won, it is improving in team work. The shifting of Myers to third in the lineup that was a wise move. He was a very large factor in the scoring of both of Boston's runs yesterday.

ANDOVER CALLS OFF SCHOOLBOY MEET ANDOVER, April 8.—Dr. Page, physical director of Andover Academy, states that the proposed interschool swimming meet scheduled for last Saturday afternoon, which was open to all schools of Greater Boston, will not be held. Two weeks ago an Andover student thought it would be a good idea to hold a meet for the schools, but the entries came in so slowly and were so few that it was decided to postpone the meet until next year.

ROSE IS BEATEN. In the fourth game of the three-chess tournament at the Imperial last night, Amos defeated Rose 2-0 to 4-0. This time, Amos won 2, Rose 0. Fulton and Morris play tonight.

Right Off the Bat

IF it were football, a good snow storm would favor the world's champions from Cambridge against the world's champions from Boston this afternoon. Being baseball it looks like neither will distinguish themselves in the kind of weather that is prevalent hereabout. And, whether or no weather, Harvard hasn't a chance to beat the Red Sox, unless they hook up on the gridiron this fall.

JACK STAHLL had his collar out at Fenway Park this morning. They arrived, full of ginger, from the Southwest, last night. Stahl expected to give his youngsters—Lynch and Foster—a chance on the heaving hill in the Harvard and Holy Cross games.

JOE WOOD, who is likely to start tomorrow against the Athletics Thursday, makes a success of everything he undertakes. He is not only the best pitcher, but a man and one of the best batters of the Red Sox, but he won the team's pool championship on the spring trip. Wood makes good because he bats at everything he tackles with all the enthusiasm and all the energy he has, and he has more of both than most young men. The Sox "speed king" is a natural born winner. He has more "pep" as they call it—has any other man among the world's champions.

RIVERS CHOICE OVER CROSS IN NEW YORK BOAT

By JACK CONWAY

JOE RIVERS and Leach Cross will be the right to claim with White Ritchie in a boat for the lightweight championship of the world when they meet in a ten-round contest in New York tonight. If the two rivals come up to expectations, the battle should be a bitter affair from start to finish.

Neither Rivers nor Cross have ever been awarded any medals for being dignified or boken. They are both great believers in the power of the wallop when it comes to settling pugilistic disputes. The reason is the clearest, however, of the two, but he has reached his present lofty position among the 140 pounders chiefly by his balling fighting spirit.

CHARLESTOWN SOX IN FIELD AGAIN The Charlestown Red Sox have re-signaled for the coming season and would like to arrange games with any five teams in the New England League. They will be greatly strengthened by Sheehan, the crack pitcher of the last St. Francis team of last year. Ritchie, who fought for the Red Sox last year, will be on the regular staff of the Charlestown team.

CHICK IS WINNER IN HARD BATTLE GLOUCESTER, April 8.—One of the best boxing exhibitions that has been held at the City Hall this season was pulled off when Jimmy Quinlan of Davenport, in the main bout of ten rounds, lost to Joe Chis, the fighting Portuguese, of Fall River. From start to finish, the fight was a hard one, with Chis being the victor in the eighth round when he won up and never showed any signs of coming back.

SCHOOL ATHLETE LOSES FINGERS The usual warfare which follows English high school teams has again been the equal in the loss of Ed Bradley, the best first baseman, Saturday night. Bradley was experimenting with some explosive, and the powder exploded, severing the tips of three fingers on his left hand.

SENATORS DEFEAT NEW YORK GIANTS WASHINGTON, April 8.—The Washington Americans outplayed the New York Nationals in an exhibition game, winning by 8 to 2. The drive in the sixth inning from Turner's bat proved the small error on Kozel's left hand and he was relieved by Hughes.

WHITE HOPE SIGNS WITH CINCINNATI CHICAGO, April 8.—Tommy Swensen, whose resignation as trainer of the Chicago Nationals was embellished by a show in Vauxhall Every Joe, has arranged to train the Cincinnati team.

Football Weather for Ball Fans Red Sox Open Against Harvard

With a biting cold wind sweeping over Fenway Park, the Red Sox started the baseball season of 1918 this afternoon, making a wallop at the Harvard boys from Cambridge. The crowd was out in football wear, and were out in great coats and furs.

The Sox, who arrived last night in a snow storm that followed them all the way home from Chicago, Ill., were out early, throwing up their 16-0000. The Harvard squad, followed by a great crowd of crimson posters, left Cambridge at 1:30 o'clock and were out on the field a half hour later.

What's This? M'Graw Trying to Unload "Redskin" Thorpe

By L. F. MURDOCH

ST. LOUIS, April 8.—"Indiana Jim" Thorpe, who started the baseball world when he signed with the New York Giants, may join the Cardinals.

It is believed here that whatever has been said on Thorpe's behalf this morning Hughes sent the following telegram to McGraw:

"Will take Thorpe off your hands, what's his salary?" Hughes would not say whether Thorpe has been asked or whether Thorpe has been offered to the Cardinals. He declared that he was anxious to secure the Indians and that he would send any National League manager to secure the renowned athlete.

My Lady Shows Only One Eye if She Wears Her Hat in the Latest French Style—New Fashions in Coiffures

The latest hats have a fetching tilt to one side of my lady's head and show only one eye. The tilt is not so pronounced that it makes girls appear one-eyed—but it is almost so. The new millinery has a decided effect on the dressing of the hair. The hats sit higher on the head and as a result the hair is worn looser, and is once more girls' crowning beauty.

Do You Know That—

In Italy marriage brokers are a regular institution. They have pocketbooks filled with the names of eligible bachelors in various parts of the country, and they are waiting for the day when they can find a suitable match for their clients. CRAMPS, HEADACHE, BACKACHE, Field to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa—"I was always tired and weak and my housework was a drag. I was irregular, had cramps so bad that I would have to lie down, and a distressed feeling in my lower part of my back, and headache. My abdomen was sore and I knew I had serious inflammation."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier have helped me wonderfully. I don't have those pains any more and I am all right now. There are a great many women here who take your remedies and I have told others what they have done for me."

MRS. CLARA MCKINNEY, 1115 N. 6th St., W. Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

There are probably hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over 20 years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering. If you are sick and need such a medicine, why don't you try it?

We challenge anyone to name even one other medicine that has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Had Serious Lung Trouble—Now Well

It is surprising that there are so many people who suffer from lung trouble. In many cases, the trouble is caused by a cold or a cough that has not been properly treated. In some cases, the trouble is caused by a chronic condition of the lungs. In any case, it is important to get the trouble treated as soon as possible.

Dr. J. C. Smith, of the University of Chicago, has found that the best way to treat lung trouble is by using a certain kind of medicine. This medicine is called "Lung Tonic" and it is made from natural ingredients. It is very effective in treating lung trouble, and it is also very safe.

Love Balm for Aching Hearts By Beatrice Fairfax

It is jealousy's work to secure To quell small loves to great my out of thought. To quell small loves to great my out of thought. To quell small loves to great my out of thought.

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
"JEALOUSY," some one once wisely wrote, "is said to be the offspring of love. Yet unless the parent make haste to strangle the child, the child will not rest till it hath poisoned the parent."

The heart of a man and the heart of a maid are capricious things. They meet; they love; with the confusion of love there is a profusion of faith. "You cannot make me jealous," one says to the other in the few intervals the sweet silence of love-making permits for rational conversation, "because I have faith in you."

"And I in you," says the other. The days go by, for their profession of faith is perhaps two weeks old. He sees her walking on the streets with Another, and Another, so capitalized, always means of his own sex. He grows hot and cold with wrath. He does not consider that the man may have other taken her at the last corner, and will leave her at the next. He swells "small things into great," and loves all reason. He is an appointment! She is false! All girls are false! He has been duped by a girl! Thus he reasons, or, rather, concludes without reasoning, and he is straightway accused her.

It was not an accident—it was an appointment! She is false! All girls are false! He has been duped by a girl! Thus he reasons, or, rather, concludes without reasoning, and he is straightway accused her.

THIS ONE IS A FLIRT
DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I have fallen deeply in love with a young man of my own age, who, although he seems to love me dearly, is always flirting with other girls. For instance, once when we were riding in a street car it seemed as if a dark young woman across the aisle—never before met—had been having a flirtation with him, but these trifles hurt me so deeply I want to ask you if I should trust his ring.

SURE OF HER LOVER

For three months I have been taking a girl for walks and to movies, giving her money, and we have grown to be very fond of each other. I have told her that I am deeply in love with her, but she keeps coming along with an

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I am twenty, and in love with a girl one year my junior. As I live in Boston and she lives a good distance away, I do not see her often and she goes with other boys. What shall I do to believe in her?

Sudden Wealth from "The Skies"
THERE is a dramatic note to the story of the unexpected fortune of George Wilkinson of Newburgh, England, a cattle drover, who it was recently announced, had inherited $250,000 from an uncle who had died recently. Wilkinson was writing home to his wife, a certain spin on Peterborough, kept by a man he knew, who used much the money a letter, saying, "Just look at that, George, and see what you can do of it." George looked at it and discovered that it was an inheritance from a firm of lawyers telling Wilkinson that his uncle, Mr. George Wilkinson, who had been twice Mayor of Newburgh, and who had died a bachelor, had left a fortune of $250,000 to the Wilkinson was next of kin.

This story reminds one of that of a fisher named Samuel Stirling, well known in Aberdeen, Scotland, a few years ago, who while he was watching a barrow through the streets, learned that he had inherited a fortune of $250,000 from a firm of lawyers telling Wilkinson that his uncle, Mr. George Wilkinson, who had been twice Mayor of Newburgh, and who had died a bachelor, had left a fortune of $250,000 to the Wilkinson was next of kin.

ONE WAY
A minister was addressing a school class recently, and was trying to enforce the doctrine that the hearts of the little ones were sinful and needed regulation. Taking out his watch, he said, "Now, here is my watch; suppose it doesn't keep good time—now goes too fast and now too slow. What shall I do with it?"

With Admiral Eaton in War Against Spain

The Indians made out the vessel, viewed on a head of steam, and heeded her holed guns on her and seemed to have been. At the same time all the other vessels of the squadron having been signalled of the vessel's approach, raised their guns on her.

There were in those distant rills enough shells and projectiles to sink any vessel that ever floated.

The supposed vessel steamed straight for the advancing fleet. The course of her commander, the supreme authority in steering toward to what we all knew to be certain destruction, sent a chill of astonishment to the men and officers of the fleet.

On the one hand the fleet, were but yards between her and the battleship. Just as Captain Taylor of the Indiana, and several of the other vessels, were about to open fire, the vessel that was the subject of our attention, the approaching vessel, the ship was seen on the horizon, the vessel was noticed with a gasp of astonishment.

All at once we noticed and the message. The vessel that was the subject of our attention, the approaching vessel, the ship was seen on the horizon, the vessel was noticed with a gasp of astonishment.

Astronomers Explore Stars by Virtually Transforming Themselves Into Giants, with Eyes Covering a Range of 186,000,000 Miles

Written for the Boston American parallax. Your two eyes form an excellent instrument for measuring parallax for nearby objects. The distance between them ($3\frac{1}{2}$ inches on the average) is the base line; the amount by which the object is shifted in direction by looking at it first with one eye and then with the other measures the parallax. Try it on a perpendicular window bar.

All you need in order to learn the distance when you know the parallax is a little knowledge of trigonometry, which teaches you how to calculate the length of all the lines of a triangle if you know already the length of one of them, and the size of two of the angles. If you arrange the experiment so as to have one right angle you will need to measure only one of the angles at the base, for a right angle is always 90 degrees, and by adding the amount of the other base angle to 90 and subtracting the sum from 180 you get the third angle, and you

If the base line is very short in comparison with the distance of the object the amount of shifting, or the parallactic angle, will be very slight. The first requisite, then, is to get a sufficiently long

Now, man is confined to the surface of a globe whose sites in comparison with the distance of the stars is insignificantly small. Nevertheless whatever base line he can get for measuring that distance must lie upon, or within, the little globe, unless, as we shall show, he can succeed in inventing a far longer base to operate upon.

In the case of the moon, which is only 240,000 miles away, or thirty times the diameter of the earth, it is not difficult, by placing one end of the base line far north of the equator and the other far south of it, to obtain a measurement of the moon's parallax.

Moreover, with certain devices, it is possible to obtain, in a similar way, the parallax of the sun, which is 93,000,000 miles, or about 11.

625 times the earth's diameter,

But with the stars the case is quite different. The nearest star, Alpha Centauri, is at a distance equal to more than THREE THOUSAND MILLION times the diameter of the earth. The angle between two lines drawn to Alpha Centauri from opposite sides of the earth would be the same as if the lines were drawn from the opposite ends of a foot rule to an object 500,000 miles away.

So we should never have been able to measure the distance of any star if the astronomer had not thought of the fact that the orbit which the earth describes around the sun once every year is 186,000,000 miles across, and if he had not seized upon THAT for his base line. If, then, the astronomer carefully determines the direction of a star, say on January 1, and again on July 1, he knows that in the meantime the earth has gone from one end of that immense base line to the other, and the angular amount of the change in the direction of the star gives its

Let us see how this applies in the case of Alpha Centauri. The distance of that star, although it is 3,000,000,000 times the diameter of the earth, is only about 140,000 times as far as the sun.

times the diameter of the earth's orbit. The angle between the two lines drawn to Alpha Centauri from opposite sides of the earth's orbit is the same as would be that between lines drawn from the ends of a foot-rule to an object about a foot-and-one-half miles away; and, although this is exceedingly small, it is nevertheless measurable with modern instruments.

But even this enormous distance fails the astronomer with his telescope, for he can see only a few of the nearer stars. There are about fifty, among the hundreds of millions, whose distance has been approximately ascertained. Among these are many of the brightest stars in the sky, but even some of the bright ones like Canopus or Rigel, are so far away that their parallax has not yet been measured.

More Economical to Cater to a Large Family Than Small

If a cook is kept she will cook for four just as easily and for the same wages as she will cook for two, while in those houses where no servants are kept, the division of the housework among two women makes it mere play in-

For two married couples to live together almost doubles the income of each. It enables them to live a great deal better and to have many luxuries and indulgences that they cannot have if they maintain separate homes, and yet it appears to be such an impossibility for two families to get along together in peace and harmony that they would rather live in a poorer house, have poorer food, do more work, and go without good clothes and amusement, than to make themselves pleasant

A curious illustration of this point of view has just been presented to me in a letter that I have received from a young man who says that living with his wife's people has driven him into nervous prostration, although he admits that at present admits that not a word is to be said against his in-laws, and that they have treated him with great kindness and consideration.

His wife's parents are well-to-do people, have a nice house, and keep a maid, so that the women

Help Asked for and Children

Dear Sir—There are half a million starving persons, mostly women and children, in the Balkan peninsula as a result of the war with Turkey.

The AMERICAN has always been foremost in starting promptly, securing quickly, dispatching instantly and distributing wisely relief funds.

Will the AMERICAN, whose sympathy ties have always been with the people, whose hands are full again for the relief of the near West, take the lead for the relief of the near East, and give the accompanying communication a wide circulation?

Respectfully yours, of the family are spared all drudgery. In the family there are only the father-in-law and mother-in-law and himself and his wife. His wife is an only child and her mother an invalid, who clings most tenderly to her daughter. Living together, the expenses of the young man are very light, and he and his wife are enabled to have pretty much all they want.

The young husband, however, is determined to set up a home of his own.

To Maintain Own Home Is Technically Right, but Expensive

He says that he earns $30 a week, but he thinks they can get along nicely on that by his wife doing all the housework and taking care of the baby that is about

He writes that he knows that it will nearly break his mother-in-law's heart to be parted from her daughter, and that it will be pretty hard on his wife, who has never cooked or washed, or ironed, to have to do such work, but he wants a home of his own, and he's going to have it.

And don't I think that he is

Of course he's technically right. Every man has got a right to set up a home of his own if he wants to, and a right to expect his wife to follow him to it. He has also an inalienable right to do fool things, and it looks as if in this case that he was taking advantage of his position.

He doesn't like to live in the house with in-laws, and he wants a home of his own.

Believe me, there are many things about having his own home that he won't like either, especially around the first of the month when the bills come in. It sounds fine to talk about the privacy of your own home, but along with said privacy comes the individual expense of running it.

Moreover, all of this theory about people pining so for a home, in which they can shut themselves away from other people, is piffle.

Man Saves by Dividing the House Expenses with Father-in-law

We are gregarious creatures and socially inclined, and the first thing we do when we realize we are alone is to go out and hunt

In the case cited above, it is easy enough to point out to the young man that he will have much money by dividing the household expenses with his father-in-law, and that he will increase his pleasures by being able to afford luxuries and amusements that he can never have if he has to spend all of his money in paying the butcher and baker, and candlestick maker, as he will have to do if he sets up a flat of his own.

Starving Women in Turkey

What would you think of your friend?
Now Mr. Mberajan, the little refugee girls, famishing in holes in the ground in Turkey, are little girls whom God loves. What will He think of us if we let them starve to death?
Will you ask your church for one dollar to hush the hunger-cries of fifty suffering innocents, just for one day?
